

Walking with Elgar

15–16 September 2017

A sponsored walk through the landscapes the composer knew and loved

You are cordially invited to join us on a two-day guided walk through a particularly delightful part of England in support of The Musical Brain.

The Route

Day One – 9 miles

We start at the Elgar Birthplace Museum at Lower Broadheath, where there will be an introductory talk about the composer given by Stephen Johnson, who will accompany the walk and give further short talks during the course of the two days. We will also be joined by Ian Brown, piano, and Maureen Smith, violin, who will perform works by Elgar on the Saturday.

The route, along the Three Choirs Way, follows the River Severn through Worcester, with a lunchtime stop at the Cathedral, then continuing along the river and across farmland to Stanbrook Abbey where we will pause for refreshments before a final couple of miles to Madresfield where we will break for the day.

Day Two – 6 miles (a more demanding day walking up into the Malvern Hills)

The second day starts at Craig Lea, one of several Elgar homes around Malvern. We then walk into Great Malvern, where Stephen Johnson will give a lunchtime talk at Malvern St James Girls' School, in discussion with Ian Brown, piano, and Maureen Smith, violin, who will play works by Elgar, including the Violin Sonata.

After lunch, our route takes us up North Hill and then along the ridge of the Malvern Hills for about three miles, offering spectacular views over the Severn Valley to the Cotswolds in the east, and across Herefordshire to the Welsh mountains in the west. The finishing point is the Church of St Wulstan in Little Malvern on the side of the Hills, where Elgar is buried.

Accommodation and transport

The Musical Brain will provide a list of local accommodation in Great Malvern available for the dates of the walk.

Road transport will be needed between the starting and finishing points on each day and to and from accommodation. Bring your car if it is convenient but don't feel that you must have a car to participate. There will be enough cars available. There are good train services to Great Malvern from Paddington and major cities. We will provide details.

Sponsorship

The aim of this walk is to raise funds for The Musical Brain. As you no doubt know, we are a tiny charity with no reserves. All our funds go towards our events, making us totally reliant on ticket sales, grants, donations and fundraising events such as this.

There is no charge for taking part in the tour. You will pay only for your accommodation and meals. We provide the organisation, guide, talks and transport, if required, free of charge.

What we do ask you to do, is to approach friends, acquaintances and relations to sponsor you. We are asking each walker to raise at least £300 in sponsorship.

Raising funds of this order should not be too onerous. Our walkers last year raised an average of £675 each by simply setting up an online sponsorship page and sending it out via email. One walker raised £1,280 in just a couple of days! Greg, our administrator, will be happy to assist you in setting up your sponsorship page.

15 miles, some rather hilly, over two days is no mean feat and those that know you may be happy to have an opportunity to support The Musical Brain and sponsor something that is a bit of a challenge for you. In fact, if the mileage seems a little far, we are able to offer a ride to the next rendezvous at any time during the walk, so don't let the distance put you off!

If you do not wish to raise the £300 in sponsorship, you can of course just make the donation to the Musical Brain yourself.

Email us to reserve your place and with any questions.

Places are limited, so don't wait too long. It was great fun last year.
